

Hello,

I wish to take this opportunity to express my very strong desire that Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law be left alone, and not lessened by some other law that would allow telemarketers to invade my privacy! Since our Attorney General, Stephen Carter, has implemented this law, I have seen immediate success by way of much more uninterrupted "quality time" with my family, and the amount of "unwanted" phone calls has dropped dramatically. It has been so outstanding to not have many if any of those terribly annoying phone calls from solicitors, interrupting our family during meal times as well as afterwards during "family time" spending quality time with my three very young children.

Thank you,
Eric Childress
